

Nikon D3S

Wednesday, 14 October 2009

For those who are searching for a big ass DSLR camera, I believe that the Nikon D3S is jus the DSLR that you are searching for. This particular camera can snap 720p24 videos, and it also comes with the latest 12.1 megapixel sensor.

Personally, I find the ISO value of 102,400 to be surprisingly superior, as clearly such value is near night vision standards. I'm just wondering how the camera will perform, when put into serious action. Would it deliver crisp images through its lenses?

Well if you have cash to splash, perhaps you would like to purchase the D3S for $5,199.95?